CIVIL ENGINEERS' SOCIETY OF ST. PAUL.—At the annual meeting, on Jan. 6, all the officers were re-elected. A committee was appointed to consider and report upon so much of the Parker retrenchment committee's report as related to the city engineer's department. Mr. A. H. Hoagland gave a description of the effect of earth slides on the Great Northern Ry. bridges which cross the Red River of the North and its tributaries. Mr. C. F. Loweth described the circumstances of the movement of pier No. 1 of the Northern Pacific R. R. bridge at Bismarck. Secy., C. L. Annan.

ENGINEERS' AND ARCHITECT CLUB OF LOUISVILLE.—At the annual meeting, on Jan. 9, the election of officers resulted as follows: President, C. J. Clark; Vice-President, Webster Gazlay; Secretary, J. R. Zollinger; Board of Directors, J. M. Johnson, W. B. Blake Marshall Morris, C. J. Snead and Charles Hermany.

INDIANA HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.—The fourth annual meeting was held at Indianapolis, Jan. 8. The President, Mr. J. A. Mount, delivered an address on "The Need of Better Roads." Prof. C. H. J. Goss read a paper on "The Engineering of Road Construction," and Mr. Evans Woollen read a paper on "Convict Labor on the Public Roads."

NEW ENGLAND WATER-WORKS ASSOCIATION.—At the quarterly meeting, on Jan. 8, Dr. Theobald Smith, of the State Board of Health, read a paper on "The Transmission of Disease Germs in Drinking Water." He noted the increasing density and the continual movement of population as the two most fruitful sources of danger from water pollution. Owing to such changes of conditions it was not possible always to take necessary precautions, and in that way the scourge of disease broke out before the danger of its approach was even intimated. He thought the breaking out of war would convince the public of the great activity of disease germs as they could be convinced in no other way, for then the restraints civilization has placed upon them would be taken away, and the rapid movement of vast bodies would give the water courses an unprecedented opportunity for spreading the germs of inoculated feces. He stated most emphatically that sewage-polluted water was dangerous.

CENTRAL RAILWAY CLUB.—At the meeting on Jan. 10 the Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. Harry D. Vought, submitted his annual report, showing a net increase of 48 members and a balance in the treasury. The report from the committee on the "Safe-Ending of Boiler Tubes," was read by the chairman, Mr. J. H. Moore. The report gave the results obtained from tests which showed that the lap-welded safe-end to tubes when properly made is preferable to the butt-welded, inasmuch as the butt-weld will give way at the weld, while lap-weld will not. The committee made no test as to the comparative cost of these two methods, but from the quickness with which safe-end lap-welds can be brought to a welding heat in a furnace designed for these purposes, there being but little time lost in waiting for heats, and the welding done by machine, the committee concluded that butt-welding by hand cannot be done as cheaply nor as quickly as lap-welding.

The report of the committee on "The Effect of Salt Water Drippings from Refrigerator Cars upon Track and Roadbed" was presented by Mr. A. M. Waitt. From the evidence submitted the committee thought it apparent that general trouble is experienced from these drippings both on the part of the roads and car owners. Necessity was clearly shown for the exercise of special care on lines affected in inspection of exposed parts of bridges and keeping them well covered with the best salt-resisting paint. It is considered perfectly practicable for the drips on refrigerator cars to be connected with a reservoir or collector near the center of the car, or at each end over center of truck, to hold drip until trains reach regular stopping points when the reservoir can be emptied by trainmen or inspectors.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, E. D. Bronner; Vice-President, John Mackenzie; Secretary and Treasurer, Harry D. Vought; Members of Executive Committee, A. M. Waitt, E. A. Miller, C. E. Rood and W. H. Gardner.

AMERICAN FORESTRY ASSOCIATION.—The fourteenth annual meeting will be held at Washington, D. C. Jan. 21, when reports from officers and committees will be presented, officers elected, and the policy of the future work of the association discussed, more particularly in regard to national legislation. The morning and afternoon sessions will be held at the Cosmos Club, and a joint meeting with the National Geographic Society will be held in the evening at Metzerot Hall, at which Hon. J. Sterling Morton, Secretary of Agriculture and President of the association, will deliver an address. Members of Congress will deliver short addresses on the forestry policy of the United States and the administration of the public forest lands, and Mr. William E. Smyth, President of the National Colonial Club, will address the meeting on the "The Relation of the Public Waters and Forests to Western Civilization."

ENGINEERS' CLUB OF PHILADELPHIA.—At the meeting of Jan. 4 Mr. William C. L. Eglin read a paper upon "The Distribution of Electrical Energy from a Central Station." Mr. John C. Troutwine, Jr., described and illustrated by lantern slides, the repairs recently made at the Queen Lane reservoir. L. F. Rondinella, Secy.

WESTERN SOCIETY OF ENGINEERS.—At the annual meeting of the society held Jan. 8, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, John F. Wallace, M. Am. Soc. C. E., Chief Engineer, Illinois Central R. R., Chicago, Ill.; First Vice-President, Thos. T. Johnson, Assistant Chief Engineer Sanitary District of Chicago; Second Vice-President, Alfred Noble, M. Am. Soc. C. E., Consulting Engineer, Chicago; Secretary and Librarian, Charles J. Roney; Treasurer, Emile Gerber, M. Am. Soc. C. E., Consulting Engineer, Chicago, Ill.; Trustee, Horace E. Horton, M. Am. Soc. C. E., President, Chicago Bridge Works, Chicago.

From the beginning of this year the society will publish its own papers and proceedings.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

TIMBER. An Elementary Discussion of the Characteristics and Properties of Wood. By Filibert Roth, Special Agent in Charge of Timber Physics. Under the Director, B. E. Fernow, Chief of the Division of Forestry. Pub. Doc. Paper, 8vo.; pp. 88; Illustrated.

This is a valuable and thoroughly practical report upon the structure, characteristics and properties of woods of different species; their strength, hardness and decay, and methods of increasing their durability. There is also a chapter by Mr. Fernow and Mr. Roth, on how to distinguish the different kinds of wood, followed by a list of the more important woods of the United States, and an analytical key of the distinguishing characteristics of these woods. In view of the rapid increase in per capita consumption of timber, and the faulty and wasteful manner of use owing to the general lack of knowledge as to its nature in detail, the value of the work which the Forestry Division is doing in investigating matters relative to timber and in publishing the results of these investigations can hardly be over-estimated.
